

Newsletter—January 2015

Welcome to Loudwater

Happy New Year, and welcome to the new quarterly newsletter from Loudwater Studio. For those of you who are unsure what we do, we are an arts, crafts and sound recording studio situated in Ludlow. Part of the charity Vision Homes Association we work to support people with many different disabilities, inspiring them to get creative in lots of different ways. But that's not all, the Studio is a community space, so that means you could get involved to. We have the space, and facilities for just about any craft you could think of and can hire the space out for your own group's use so why not call in and see us for yourself or take a look at what we have to offer and give us a call.

About the Newsletter

We're aiming to keep you updated on the latest activities in the Studio, including features from our regular groups; information about upcoming events, and how you can get involved. The newsletter will initially be a quarterly publication (starting in February 2016) so when you sign up don't worry we're not going to bombard your inbox with loads of e-mails. So please, tell your friends and help us spread the word about this amazing place.

Upcoming Events

Drop-in Pottery

Every Tuesday from 12.30pm, whether you're an experienced potter needing somewhere to work, or a complete beginner who wants to have a go join us for an hour or longer if you wish, we have the space and want you to use it.

Messy Fingers (1 to 5 year olds)

Starting Wednesday, 6 January we meet every fortnight between 10.30 & 11.30 getting the children creative. If you'd love to let the children free with paint, glitter and glue but can't stand the mess Loudwater's the place for you. We look at a different activity each session but understand that children express themselves in all sorts of ways and that's something we love to see.

Calling all Creatives!

Loudwater is a Creative Champion for the BBC's Get Creative Campaign. As part of this we are hoping to get involved with the national Get Creative Day on 2 April 2016. The aim is to throw the doors open to the whole community to give them an opportunity to have a go a creative activities they may never have tried before. To help us with this we are hoping to involve as many local creative people as possible, giving you an opportunity to promote what you do and inspire others to get involved. Interested in taking part? The please give Nikki a call on (01584) 877272 or email to find out more.
